

Social Psychology Search 2024

Meeting Minutes • December 6, 2024, 9:30–10:30

Present: Friedl, García Ferrés, Levett, Odegaard, Rodriguez, and Webster

Summary. Co-chair Webster called the meeting to order. The committee compared and discussed multiple sources of information on the five finalists following their on-campus interviews including (a) faculty and graduate student feedback via anonymous online surveys, (b) overall performance during the interview process (e.g., job talk, meeting with search committee), (c) feedback from the current social psychology faculty, (d) feedback from the social area graduate students, and (e) continued consideration of each candidate's application materials. After a thorough discussion, the committee ranked the candidates with near-unanimous consensus; one dissenting ranking was given, which had the same candidate ranked first. The consensus ranking was presented later in the day to the Psychology faculty at a scheduled meeting; faculty support for this ranking (via private ballot) was unanimous.

Future meeting dates and times. None scheduled; the search committee's work is conditionally complete.
